Dear Dr. Mohtashemi,

It has taken me a while to read your material. Your ideas are certainly aimed in the right direction as far as they seem to favor peace and well being on the planet. I don't think that anyone would argue with that part being good.

However, you will have a tough course ahead of you as I imagine you are already aware. You will run into organized religions. Certainly the Judeo-Christian and Muslim religions will not accept your ideas and will attack any attempts you make to spread your beliefs.

I have no experience in the nature of religion and can't offer advice or help to you in the difficult path you are taking.

Sincerely Yours,

P.S. I think you will be ever so concerned
