Dear Friend:

I would like to focus your attention on the item No. 14 of my theories, also to explain how and why this item constituted H. Mohtashemi, M.D.

As early as the year 1986 when I started to work on my theories one of my main goals, among many others, was to create a mechanism to explain my discoveries in such a way to be understood effectively. Also I believed that learning the reality of God's existence, his will, his power and his actions would make people understand many secrets of life and nature, becoming closer to each other preparing to function in such a fashion to please God to prosper themselves and others. Nevertheless even though inspiration from God may be considered a personal and sensitive issue, but it appeared to me that within the context of history the very special inspiration that I had could have enormous impact in shaping the lives and destiny of many generations to come. However the real depth, values and importance of the event as well as the perception of the quality of the inspiration and its enormous potentials could not be conveyed to common busy preoccupied multitudes of people and professionals through ordinary shallow ways of communications, talk shows, expatiation in order to be perceived and understood effectively, neither the knowledge could be transferred through involving in simple conversations, readings, talking, hearing the news and arguing about them in order to be enlightened. Each person needed to experience his own and her own internal personal feelings and examine them thoroughly in the pure hearts, deal with them in honest fashion in order to learn and grow to be prepared for enlightenment. Enlightenment would occur only when God himself/herself penetrates into the mind, the heart and the body of the person who is prepared and is willing to yield to realities wholeheartedly.

On the other hand since the inspiration from God had occurred to me and I assumed that probably I was the only person who was honored with such special inspiration, thus, it became my great desire to function effectively to prepare others for enlightenment. That was preparing them for potentials to develop faith.

While I was functioning to form and present my theories I realized that in order to build an active living force within my theories to attract attentions I had to present myself as a part of my theories. If I had not done so, my writings would have lost the potential to spark for igniting and sustaining the flames which were needed to keep my theories alive, active and effective. Also to render the necessary quality to be flexible, adjustable, influencing to prepare others for enlightenment. Those were the reasons for which I designated items No. 14 of my theories as: H. Mohtashemi, M.D. (Please refer to this item within the incompletely organized list of the summary of my theories as it is written: to be continued, H. Mohtashemi, M.D.). As a matter of fact I did believe that without my presence, my witnessing, and my activities, my theories could not sustain their effectiveness for achieving the goals. Certainly my observations, my feelings and my experiences had to be expressed, inquired, examined and analyzed in proper way and fair manner in order to be understood properly and be effective to achieve their goals.

The goals of my theories from the beginning of my activities have been creation of peace, tranquillity and harmony, together with health and happiness for the members of all nations, all tribes, all cultures all religions and factions either minorities or majorities in a harmonious proportion by creating balanced and adjusted interactions between them developing a sense of surprise, intrigues and sustaining enthusiasm and faith as long as they are righteous in their hearts, open in their minds and sincerer in their behaviors. Also I believe that achieving these goals are part of God's plans.

Proper study analysis and understanding of my theories may reveal many potential benefits including the followings:

1. To promote many schools of thoughts such as psychology, religions, philosophy modern mythology and others also directing the course of their evolutions towards unification and elimination of animosities but cultivating love, wisdom, intelligence, faith, desires joy and enthusiasm with hope in order to lead humanity toward achieving harmony, peace and happiness.
2. To establish the new modern progressive standard and definition for many confusing disputing and not fully understood terms such as "justice, fairness, democracy, freedom, adultery, moralities, human rights, abortion right slavery, economy and its faults, proper way of human relations sex and others...".
3. To express a theoretical and scientific explanations for proof of physically existing God, soul and spirits as well as hell and heaven and eternal lives. Also to explain how the "physical force of God is the driving and directing force for progressive evolution of nature and its beauties, evolution of science arts, technologies also progressive evolution of understanding the "New" morality as well as humanistic and spiritual values.
4. Describing the most modern progressive religion "Religion of God" which is gifted to the world by God in the beginning of the New Millennium.
5. Promoting the level of values of the presently existing but frequently contentious religions to a higher standard and understandings in order to tolerate each others differences with love and dignity, becoming able to direct their followers to learn God, obey and worship only God, communicate with God effectively either directly or through more knowledgeable intellectuals.

Understanding God, his will, his power and his spiritual values will enable us to forgive and forget generously with patience and kindness peacefully with tranquillity instead of developing rage, throwing stones and kill for revenge or engaging in war to murder for satisfaction or tendency to developing anger, jealousy, greed, hatred, fear, superstition and other negative emotions.

Sincerely,

H. Mohtashemi, M.D.
